Soldier's Last Confession

From out of the Arawe sector of New Britain island comes this dramatic picture . . . taken after the Americans had pushed the Japs back in a fierce battle. An American soldier (face down), badly wounded in the fight, is making his last confession to Catholic Chaplain Charles L. Forsyth, who bends low to hear the dying man's words. Soldier at right is making out hospital ticket.

Warships Help Hold Anzio Line

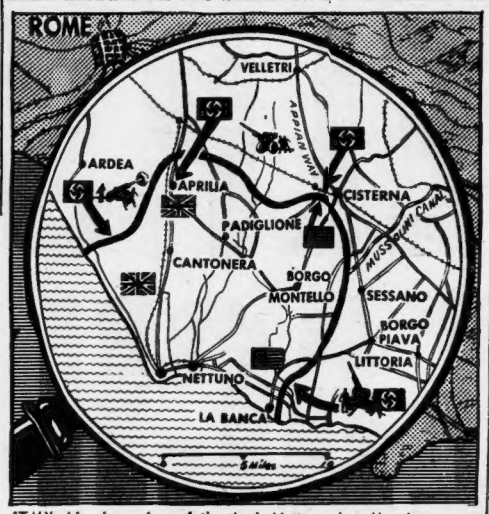
By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Feb. 12 (AP) — Allied warships thundering into action have helped repulse a new German assault on the storm-swept invasion bridgehead below Rome, and a headquarters officer declared today, despite Nazi pressure, the front lines there have "remained relatively unchanged during the past few days."

On the Cassino front, American forces made new gains in bitter struggles within that town, and in the hills to the west drove within a mile of the Via Casilina, the Germans' only supply line corridor into the city.

Rain, snow, sleet and gales cancelled Allied air blows against Germans pressing against the bridgehead, leaving the Germans free to move up troops and supplies harried only by naval and land artillery bombardment.

The single Nazi attack yesterday was flung unsuccessfully against American troops in the area west of Cisterna, headquarters said, where hard fighting continues.



ITALY—Here's a view of the Anzio-Nettuno beachhead . . . as viewed through the map-maker's magnifying glass. As Allied warships smashed Nazi positions, British troops are reported to have scored gains near Aprilia (Carroceto).

BULLETIN

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill announced in a statement from No. 10 Downing st. tonight he had been assured by Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson and Gen. Sir Harold Alexander they had "confidence the great battle now proceeding for the capture of Rome will be won."

SHIPS SHELL GERMANS

Naval units, including the British cruisers Mauritius and Dido, moved close inshore to shell the left flank of the Germans as they attacked.

(CBS Correspondent John Daly said today "after four anxious days the core of the Allied spearhead below Rome remains secure." The German communique said Nazi artillery broke up heavy Allied tank attacks against "new German lines near Aprilla," knocking out 17 tanks.)

The gains by Americans in bitter fighting in Cassino included the jail which the Germans had converted into a fortress, continuing to hold out in its basement even after Allied artillery and tanks levelled the structure.

Fighting in the mountains around Cassino was impeded by heavy snowfall but more artillery was brought up to back the American infantry.

POPE'S SUMMER PALACE—Pictured here is Castel Gandolfo, the Pope's summer home, which the Allies announce "now lies in the battle area and contains a heavy saturation of German soldiers." This follows a Vatican City broadcast that the Castel has already been bombed three times. It is close to the Allied beachhead below Rome.

Reds Shut Trap In Dnieper Bend

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Russian army is fighting at the approaches to Korsun, last big center of resistance of the encircled Germans in the upper Dnieper bend and "operations for their extermination are coming to their logical conclusion," Red Star declared today.

The dispatch reported wild confusion within separate groups of Nazis isolated from the main body of the trapped enemy as the Red army drove its spearheads into their wavering ranks.

A final attempt by 11 Junker transport planes to reach the encircled Germans was frustrated when Soviet artillery blew the planes to pieces when they landed in an open field within the Cherkasy death ring.

Gen. Vatutin's First Ukrainian Army today was consolidated along a 220-mile line stretching from southwest of Lutsk to a point north of Uman, with the important rail hub of Shepetovka, captured yesterday, in the center.

A branch of the Kiev-Warsaw trunk railway runs from Lutsk through Rovno, Shepetovka and Berdichev to Kazatin and Progrebishche.

From almost any place along this line Vatutin is in a position to launch a drive for the Odessa-Warsaw trunk railway.

Severing the Odessa-Warsaw line at any point would cut thousands of Germans southward from their home bases.

Finnish Peace Talk Spreads

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 12 (AP)—Renewed discussions of the possibility of peace rose in Finland today and the Finnish press warned the citizens to keep cool and await steps the government was preparing.

The Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau, a German-controlled news agency, reported 18 trains were leaving Helsinki daily carrying evacuees to summer holiday towns outside the city following heavy Russian bombing.

Reds Again Blast Polish Rulers

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Russians fired a new blast at the exiled Polish government in London today, again suggesting a firm intervention to force the ouster of alleged anti-Russian elements or set up and administration chosen from the Union of Polish Patriots in Moscow.

"The Polish emigre government, having Fascist politicians in its makeup, has lost all sense of reality and is living in the phantom world of a Hitlerite mirage," said a Pravda article broadcast by the Moscow radio.

Germans Occupy Pope Pius' Villa

ALGIERS, Feb. 12 (INS)—Pope Pius' summer residence at Castel Gandolfo has been converted into a German stronghold and will be bombed by Allied warplanes, Allied headquarters announced today.

An official statement said the Pontiff's summer farm now lies in the Italian battle area and contains "a heavy saturation of German forces."

Castel Gandolfo is about 10 miles from the perimeter of the Allied beachhead, and is on one of the main roads the Germans are using to send troops and supplies to the front. The whole area around bristles with Nazi military activity, and the enemy has established many supply, gasoline and munitions dumps in the vicinity.

The Papal palace at Castel Gandolfo has extensive grounds at its rear in which there are gardens and farmland and some auxiliary buildings.

Castel Gandolfo became a Papal holding in 1596. The palace was built by Pope Urban VIII.

Smash at Japs Rabaul to Wake

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press War Editor

The Allies loosed a torrent of air and sea-borne destruction on Jap positions over a broad expanse of the Pacific to keep up the unceasing assault on the island empire.

Warplanes cascaded more than 450 tons on enemy bases in the New Guinea-New Britain sector, Wake Island and the Marshalls, where an "important enemy-held atoll" was shelled by units of the U. S. Pacific fleet.

Japan's ability to supply holdings far from home suffered a fresh setback with disclosure by Secretary Knox submarines had sunk 12 more ships, raising the total to 584 vessels destroyed, probably destroyed or damaged.

In the most massive of the latest plane-ship attacks, Gen. MacArthur's bombers dropped 200 tons of explosives Wednesday on the Boram airdrome and supply area of Wewak, 200 miles northwest of Madang, to weaken further the enemy's crumbling defenses for northern New Guinea.

Another 60 tons crashed down on Madang, major Jap shipping center imperiled by Allied occupation of the Huon peninsula and juncture of Australian and American troops below Saidor, 55 miles southeast of the port. American fliers previously reported the enemy apparently had abandoned Madang.

Intensifying the time-table sweeps over Rabaul, the largest force of raiders to come out from Solomons bases lashed at Vunakanau and Tobera airdromes with 98 tons of bombs and shot down 20 to 27 of 50 Jap fighters. Two of the 250 Allied planes failed to return.

Navy Coronado bombers pounced on Wake Thursday for the second consecutive day. Not an American plane was lost.

Fiancee of Hero To Sponsor Ship

Miss Sally McKillop, South st., Jamaica Plain, whose fiance was killed aboard an enemy blockade runner during attempts to salvage it, will sponsor a warship named for him at the Bethlehem-Hingham Shipyard Tuesday. The vessel will honor William J. Pattison, signalman third class, U. S. Navy.

The second destroyer escort launched that day will be named for Merton B. Myers, machinist's mate first class, with his mother, Mrs. Ralph W. Myers of Pocahontas, Ia., sponsor.

Liberators Lash Invasion Area

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—American Liberators swept over the French invasion coast near Pas-de-Calais in strength today, resuming a pounding of Nazi defenses which has been going on relentlessly during 40 of the last 54 days.

Opening a daylight assault with a cover of Thunderbolts and Mustangs against the neck of continental land nearest Britain, the Liberators carried out the 13th mission of the American Air Force in 16 days in the wake of yesterday's heavy Fortress blow at Frankfurt and a Mosquito mission by the RAF over western and central Germany last night.

Shortly after the Liberators struck, RAF fighters and other strong Allied formations winged out to follow up the initial daylight sorties that began with the dawn.

The Mosquitos, in their seventh operation of the month, returned without loss, while the RAF's heavy armadas continued to be blanketed by bad weather.

About 20 German raiders, meanwhile, crossed the southeast British coast last night and dropped a few bombs in London. The four raiders reaching London killed a few persons.

Thirty-seven Nazi planes were downed yesterday in operations in which American fighters made the greatest number of sorties ever flown from British bases. Five U. S. bombers and 15 fighters, one British, were lost.

Although the Army did not specify the number of Thunderbolts, Lightnings and Mustangs supporting the heavy bombers, it exceeded the 700 which escorted the record fleet of 800 bombers which pounded Frankfurt Jan. 29.

Fortresses yesterday also struck unspecified objectives in Germany while U. S. Liberators and Marauders and RAF and RAAF Mosquitos lashed the French coast.

2 Die as Snow Resumes; Near Zero Tonight

Two persons were dead, scores injured, and transportation facilities tangled, as the winter's heaviest snowfall in Boston continued today accompanied by freezing winds which sent the mercury plunging toward near-zero readings.

Clearing and much colder weather was forecast for tonight and tomorrow by the U. S. Weather Bureau. The snow was expected to end shortly after noon although there was a possibility scattered flurries would continue through the early afternoon.

The dead:

Edward E. McLeod, 51, of Westmoreland st., Dorchester, a Boston El inspector.

Unidentified man, believed struck by an automobile at Portland, Me.

McLeod was killed when a trolley car struck him in Ashmont station yard while he worked to clear a switch.

The official snowfall up to noon measured 7.2 inches, but swirling winds piled the snow into huge drifts which reached depths of a foot in some sections.

More than 700 men, 315 trucks and 45 snow loaders were ordered into action in the city by Public Works Commr. George G. Hyland clearing streets and crosswalks even while the storm was underway.

State roads were reported in good condition as a result of work done by more than 1000 men and 400 machines.

South Shore trains were reported delayed from 10 to 30 minutes when an express truck blocked the rails at Quincy station after skidding from the loading platform.

New York and Washington trains arrived as much as an hour late, due to the snow-clogged rails. The New Haven railroad said more than 350 men were working to keep the tracks cleared.

Boston & Maine officials hired 100 British sailor volunteers to help battle the deep drifts in the terminal yards. The men were obtained by special arrangements between the B. & M. and the War Manpower Commission.

The temperature was expected to drop to zero in the suburbs and to 10 above in the city, according to forecasts.

RENO-BOUND—Film Actress Anna Lee was preparing to leave Hollywood today for Reno to establish residence to divorce Film Director Robert Stevenson, who is now a major in the Signal Corps. They have two children.

MIDDLEBORO CROSSING CRASH KILLS 4

MIDDLEBORO, Feb. 12—A man, a woman and two boys were killed today and a man critically injured when their automobile was in collision with a Hyannis-to-Boston train at Cherry st. crossing, sometimes known as the Fall Brook crossing.

The automobile, according to police, was registered in the name of Lawrence L. Willis of Vaughan st., the survivor.

The dead were identified as Gordon Willis, 40; his wife, Josephine, 32, and their son, Vincent, 6, and Lawrence Willis, Jr., 7, son of the injured survivor.

Bodies of the two boys were removed from the wreckage within a short time after the accident, but police and firemen worked several hours before freeing the bodies of the man and woman.

When the crash occurred the passenger train, which had left Hyannis about an hour before noon and was due in Boston at 1:30 p. m., was riding through a heavy snowfall.

In charge of the train was Conductor I. S. Young, and the engineer was Edward Goodspeed.

According to New Haven Railroad officials, the crossing is protected by a warning bell, and the bell was sounding the train's approach.

2646 Prisoners Drown

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP) — A Berlin broadcast declared today 2646 of 3173 Italian prisoners were drowned when a German transport was sunk by a submarine torpedo 17 miles off Crete four days ago.

2 Families Flee Fire in Everett

Two Everett families were forced to flee into the storm as a two-alarm blaze swept their homes early today, while another two-alarm fire destroyed an East Cambridge barrel factory.

The Everett fire, caused by defective wiring, caused $1500 damage to a two-story dwelling. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Motzi were driven from their first floor apartment, Mrs. Margaret Fry and her children, Caroline, 4, and Robert, 12, from the second floor, and her brother, Michael DeMarco, from an attic bedroom.

Flames more than 100 feet high flared up as the East Cambridge barrel plant, owned by the Young, Curley and Larkin Co., burned in Gore st. with $5000 loss.

AEF Men Hate 'Hero Hokum'

By AUSTEN LAKE

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (by transport mail)—Today dawned cold and crisp as any New England morn in deep winter. A sheath of heavy hoarfrost covered everything like a coat of white lead, even encrusting the shrubbery with crystals.

Pvt. Spiro Vasilakapoulos of 42 Broad st., Salem, breathed forked jets of vapor, and thawed his hands under his arm pits. The warm tides colored his cheeks and he liked it, he said, "better, b'geez, than the African sun," which had bleached men's souls and felt like the business end of a plumber's blow torch.

The censor is listening. I'm not supposed to write about weather, BUT climate is something personal to New England soldiers, especially those bred from the northland, like Capt. Henry R. Sawyer, R. F. D. 1, South Danbury, N. H., where winter turns a man's blood thick as maple syrup. Henry likes to tell of how he froze his ears between classes on the University of N. H. campus, and turning them temporarily to cauliflowers—a vegetable incidentally that the AEF detest.

"If it aint cauliflower," mused Pvt. Sam Dorfsman of 19 Balsam st., Dorchester, who used to know his victuals from hanging around Barney Sheff's Delicatessen, "It's Brussels sprouts! And if it ain't that, it's cabbage. N'ah!"

Cabbage is literally an anathema in the troops nostrils, for it grows by the square mile in British fields, and emits a sour, decayed odor to the passerby. "Like something died," observed Pvt. Frank L. Valego of 19 Spring st., Chicopee, who says to tell his mother, Mary, the mail is slow.

A natural camouflage spread over the near-by Engineers' hutment, where Pvt. Vasilakapoulos slapped his circulation alive, a woodsy spot, in which the trees were so mathematically spaced that they must have been planted by a civil engineer. In fact, centuries of careful husbandry has made the English countryside look like a fresh washed, well-combed schoolboy. And Spiro Vasilakapoulos, who used to deliver for the Pequot Mills, was slapping the frost from his leg where a shrapnel splinter had once lodged, and telling that "Aw, it hadn't hurt none" when he got it—just a jolt like being kicked by a horse.

So he'd taken the little ampule of morphine that each soldier carries in the lining of his helmet and given himself a jab, then dusted the welling, crimson mouth with sulpha powder until a medic-corporal with a Red Cross brassard on his arm crawled up and applied a compress bandage.

"Brother" adjured Spiro, "Give them guys credit. Not a slit-trench louse among the medics. And guts!—say, I've seen 'em right out among the snipers, fixing a wounded guy like they was home reading the funny papers."

There was heavy gear stored

Lake Writes Of Red Cross' Noble Work

Austen Lake, Boston American war correspondent in Britain with New England's Berlin-bound fighting men, tells in Monday's instalment of the fine work being done among your boys by the Red Cross.

Lake, a World War I veteran, calls the present war's Red Cross workers "a better, more solid breed than the cookie-pushers of the last war," and illustrates his opinion with touching examples.

Read Monday's Boston American for this exclusive story along with Lake's tale of talks with boys from Dudley, Lawrence, Leominster, Somerville, Clinton, Lowell, Newton Center, Brockton, Arlington, Cambridge, and many other New England cities and towns.

New Blood Plasma Marvels Revealed

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Feb. 12—The Red Cross blood plasma, lifesaver of American wounded, has been split into fractions.

These fractions, and their production for the armed forces on a big scale, were described to the New York section of the American Chemical Society by Dr. Edwin J. Cohn of Harvard University.

One fraction, albumin, does all the work of plasma, and only one-fifth the volume is required.

A second of the globulins which protect man from many diseases is the best preventive and treatment for measles yet found.

A third, made of two of the blood's clotting elements, is in use in surgery, where sheets of it have been substituted for layers of lining over the brain.

Fellows Backs Legion Vet Aid Omnibus Bill

By FRANK REILLY

WASHIGTON, Feb. 12—A Maine congressman, Rep. Frank Fellos of Bangor, sounded an appeal today to all relatives and friends of New England servicemen to unite in support of the American Legion omnibus bill seeking full justice for discharged veterans.

The measure, known as the "bill of rights for G-I Joe and G-I Jane," proposes a year's unemployment compensation for veterans encountering difficulty in finding jobs and also would grant financial appropriations to permit younger men and women to resume their formal educational work in colleges and universities.

"It is the duty of Congress to anticipate and solve the problems of the returning veterans now," Rep. Fellows said.

CALLS FOR LETTERS

"I urge the people of New England to join with their elected representatives who are friendly to the veterans by writing and wiring responsible Washington officials, demanding justice for returning service people."

Meanwhile, the massed weight of America's outstanding experts on education was thrown into the fight for passage of the Legion's omnibus bill.

In an impressive show of educational strength, spokesmen acting for a committee of the country's 21 most authoritative education associations appeared before a Senate financc sub-committee to endorse the bill.

FIND GRANTS TOO LOW

The only "quarrel" which the educational experts had with the measure was that it was not liberal enough in its cash grants for tuition and allowances for dependent children of married veterans who wish to return to college on being discharged from military service.

Dr. George F. Zook, president of the American Council on Education, and Willard E. Gibbons, executive secretary of the National Education Ass'n, were the first educators to take the witness stand and urge adoption of the omnibus bill.

"The United States government has a grave responsibility to offer educational advantages to the members of the armed services after this war," declared Dr. Zook. "That is the least we can do for those whose education has been so rudely interrupted."

JAP CRUELTY STIRS CAPITAL RAGE ANEW

By KINGSBURY SMITH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (INS)—A new wave of indignation swept the nation's capital today as a result of the latest official revelations concerning Japanese mistreatment of American war prisoners and civilian internees.

A demand was growing in congressional circles for the imposition of drastically harsh peace terms on Japan unless the Japanese government quickly takes effective measures to assure humane treatment for captured American nationals.

Some leading members of Congress voiced the opinion that Japan should be permanently outlawed from equal association in the world family of nations after the war unless the Japanese government makes amends for the barbaric treatment of American war prisoners and sees to it that their military authorities henceforth respect the common laws of humanity.

MSGR. SHEEN SEES STALIN IN PEACE MOVE

Not only is Russia guilty of "double-talk" in its relations with the United Nations but Stalin is making daily overtures for a separate peace with Germany, in the opinion of Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen of Catholic University.

Msgr. F. J. Sheen

In an address sponsored by the Regis College Alumnae Association at the Copley-Plaza, Msgr. Sheen denounced the Soviet government for recent attacks on the Catholic Church and said he is forced to doubt Russia's sincerity because of Stalin's failure to support the Atlantic Charter.

He predicted that the formation of sixteen "independent" Soviet republics was merely a forerunner of the establishment of similar governments in Poland, Germany and other nations in central Europe.

Enumerating the reasons for his "fears for the future," the Catholic prelate said: "We simply don't speak the same language. Russia professes to be fighting for democracy. But their idea of democracy is not ours. In Stalin's own words there can be no real democracy except under Communism, which excludes all the freedoms which we regard as essential.

And Here's the Oklahoma Before the Raid

Refloat Oklahoma, Victim of Jap Sneak

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Feb. 12 (AP)—The U. S. S. Oklahoma—her 29,000 tons were the ultra-ultra in battleships when she was commissioned in 1916—is afloat after being just a metal hulk on the bottom of Pearl Harbor since the Japanese sneak attack Dec. 7, 1941.

Torpedoes of Nipponese planes ripped into her hull that black day and she capsized, shearing off two masts, the bridge, a stack and a catapult.

Divers went to work. A 900-ton patch was fitted in place. Slowly, tediously she was raised. Twice power failures stopped the big pumps briefly. Each time the battleship began to list.

But eventually she was upright. Her big guns were removed. Then five tugs began pushing her to drydock while all concerned held their collective breath, fearful of some failure.

Last night, Adm. Nimitz allowed it to be known that the Oklahoma "once more is afloat following an interval in drydock during which repairs to her hull were made."

The admiral did not announce plans for the battleship but it is hoped she will be completely repaired and eventually used against the Japanese.

Rear Adm. William R. Furlong, in immediate command of the Oklahoma's restoration, now has seen 16 of 18 ships sunk at Pearl Harbor leave the port.

The capsizing of the battleship trapped 32 sailors, but they rapped on the hull. The rapping was detected by Navy Yard workmen; the hull was cut and the group rescued.

The Oklahoma, built by the New York Shipbuilding Corp. at Camden, N. J., was launched and christened March 23, 1914. During the First World War, the Oklahoma helped guard against enemy cruiser attacks and protected convoys. She later was modernized at a cost of $7,000,000, mounting 10 14-inch guns, 12 five-inch guns and eight five-inch anti-aircraft guns.

Landon Rallies Party To Fight 'Sham-o-crats'

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 12 (INS)—Alfred M. Landon charged the national administration with advocating a "national socialistic state," treachery to its own party, "carpet-bagging," and with playing a brand of politics which has resulted in prolonging the war.

The 1936 presidential choice of the Republican party invaded a normally Democratic bailiwick to declare that a GOP president this year will be the salvation of both parties. He spoke before the Knox County Young Republican Club.

The principal issue of the forthcoming presidential campaign, Landon said, is:

"Will our country continue to move toward the national socialistic state which is the objective of the New Dealers, or will we keep the faith—the faith of our fathers; the faith of our sons and daughters who fight the war?

"... Authoritarianism stalks our land today like a grim grisly ghost which seemingly cannot be laid. It has shrouded itself in the hallowed robes of the honored Democratic party. It has covered its deceitful face with the mask of a forthright and sincere party, which, never, by word of platform, subscribed to the stealthy assassination of the American system of free enterprise."

Landon charged there are "57 different varieties of political medicine men who have done their best to turn true Democrats into 'Sham-O-Crats.'" He continued:

"The palace guard's strategy is first to hide their ultimate intentions from the American people and second, to undermine the Democratic party."

The former Kansas governor declared that only a display of brutality distinguishes the New Deal from Nazism.

Fall River Strikers To Act on Proposal

FALL RIVER, Feb. 12—Disclosure that a "proposal has been made to strikers who have tied up seven warr-producing textile mills for two months came today following a meeting of the negotiating committee of the three independent crafts in Weavers Hall, Second st.

Arthur Redfern, president of the Fall River Loom Fixers' Union, said a mass meeting had been called for members of the three crafts Sunday at 7 p. m. in Weavers Hall.

He declared the mass meeting had been arranged in connection with "a proposal to be presented to the men," this constituting the first announcement of any proposition concerning the mills placed under Army control early this week.

The negotiating committee meeting was called at noon by Atty. Jacob Minkin, counsel for the three crafts, who came from New Bedford to submit the proposal.

Redfern, however, declined to reveal the nature of the proposal.

He said should the strikers find the proposal agreeable "they might vote to go back to work Monday, but that was strictly up to the men."

TURK-BRITISH WAR TALKS BROKEN OFF

By WILLIAM B. KING

ANKARA, Feb. 10 (delayed) (AP)—Military talks between the Turkish general staff and the British military mission have been suspended after a month of secret sessions, it was disclosed today. The suspension will not necessarily alter Turkey's policy toward the Allies and the war.

Turkey's foreign policy still is based on a strong alliance with Britain and a cautious attitude toward the war.

I am convinced of these two things after a 50-minute off the record talk with Premier Sukru Saracoglu today.

While the suspension of military talks was not discussed in the interview with the premier, I am convinced by other information discussions bogged down purely on the question of the amount of military supplies necessary to equip Turkey for full-fledged war activity.

In the conferences it was made clear chances of Turkey's entry into the war would be greatly lessened if the delivery of materials in the quantities desired was impossible or disapproved by the Allies.

Turkish policy still follows a purely Turkish point of view.

At the rally, it was announced, were sold $100,000 worth of bonds, and former Ambassador Kennedy telegraphed he was purchasing an additional $50,000 worth to mark his son's participation in the rally.

Brooklyn Church Fire Kills Woman

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (INS)—A four-alarm fire, which virtually destroyed St. Paul's Lutheran Church, a 91-year-old edifice in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, caused the death today of the sexton's wife when she was trapped in her apartment on the first floor of the brick structure.

Tenants Flee Athol Fire

ATHOL, Feb. 12 (AP) — Six families, including a month-old baby, were forced out of their apartments during a severe snow storm today as fire spread through a three-story dwelling at 249 Hapgood st.

Baby Born In Police Car

The stork was a near-casualty of the storm today and was "rescued" in the nick of time by police, as Patrolman John J. Smiley of the East Boston station served as midwife at the birth of a son—in the station wagon—to Mrs. Josephine Boudreau, 20.

Dr. Nathaniel A. Caplan, her physician, was unable to get a taxicab for the expectant mother at 2 in the morning, so he appealed to the police and a wagon was sent to her home in Eagle st.

En route to the Winthrop Community Hospital, with the storm at its peak, Dr. Caplan ordered the wagon to stop in Saratoga st. while Mrs. Boudreau gave birth to her son.

The trip was then resumed and mother and child are reported in excellent condition at the hospital. Mrs. Boudreau's husband is a U. S. sailor serving in the Pacific.

Ex-Hub Man in Italy Turns Traffic Cop

By HAL BOYLE

ON THE RAPIDO RIVER FRONT, Jan. 31 (delayed) (AP)—A volunteer unpaid traffic policeman along the Fifth Army sector facing Cassino, Frank Grosse said "Boston was noisy, but never like this."

Grosse, who left the Hub back in 1935 for the peace and quiet of sunny Italy, lives in a small farmhouse as close to the battle front as a seat in the bleachers, close enough to get a lump on the head if the stuff falls a little off the beam.

Whenever military traffic jams up at a sharp bend in the narrow rutted mud road running past his doorway, Grosse comes over and straightens it out.

"Back up, back up! Hokay!" he chanted. When shells landed near he would go back in the house and let the traffic jam up as much as it wanted. At first, he said, he was worried about the war, but he is something of an optimist now.

"Our side is doing better," he said, scratching his white hair and grinning through teeth with a gap in them as wide as the Cassino corridor to Rome.

Grosse thinks the American troops have small knowledge of their own country's geography. That is because they greet him by asking him repeatedly "Where you from, Brooklyn?"

"No, no!" he exclaims, "Brooklyn, pfagh! I'ma from Boston, Mass. You know, Boston, Mass?" Never Boston, Massachusetts. Always Boston, Mass.

"Never heard of the place," the soldiers say, driving on. "Is it in the United States?"

Chaplin Will Be Booked Monday

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12 (INS)—Charlie Chaplin will make a personal appearance Monday in the U. S. Marshal's office—where he will be booked on federal "white slave" act and conspiracy indictments.

On motion of Chaplin's chief attorney Federal Judge O'Connor waived a $1000 bail requirement previously set for the actor and the six other persons named in indictments.

Joan Berry, 24, the comedian's former protege once under contract at $100 a week, is suing him as the father of her baby daughter born last October.

Formal arraignment for the seven will be Monday, Feb. 21. At that time a date will be set for hearing of demurrers or pleas.

Scouts Boost Sales of Bonds

War bond sales appeals were made today by 50,000 Greater Boston Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, who braved snow drifts to stage a house-to-house neighborhood canvass in many suburbs to help put the Fourth War Loan over the top.

The Scout "good turn" for the Treasury Department coincides with the 34th anniversary of scouting, celebrated this week. All 27 Massachusetts councils are sharing in this final effort to reach the state's quota of $258,000,000 for bond sales to individuals.

State Chairman F. W. Denio of the bond campaign said Massachusetts is lagging far behind, with the campaign still only at the half-way mark. Tuesday is the final day of the drive.

Boston public and parochial schools were praised by Denio for helping stimulate sales. Reports from 53 schools, or 48 per cent of all which participated in the three-day "Junior Minute Man" drive, show $433,138 credited to the boy and girl bond salesmen.

U. S. Importing Oil, Roosevelt Warns

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The United States, President Roosevelt said, can no longer depend on domestic oil wells for all the petroleum it needs, and must now turn elsewhere for additional supplies.

We need petroleum from outside for this war, if it keeps on going, and for the future, he said.

New Food Aid Helps Thousands Who NEED MORE "SPARK PLUG" VITAMINS

Feel irritable, "all-in" because your war meals are thin on B vitamins? Then try this new food aid—today!

"Loveliness Means Being Up To Par," says Bonita Granville, star of the RKO Radio picture, "Are These Our Children?" "So I do everything I can to keep from feeling below par for lack of the B vitamins. And I've seldom seen a better help than the new Fleischmann's B Vitamins Yeast Tablets!"

YES, these conditions may be due to other causes, but they are also signs of mild B vitamin deficiency. And nutritionists warn us that war meals may be short on vital "Spark Plug" vitamins.

How can you get more of them? Science defines the Vitamin B Complex as "those water-soluble vitamins as found in yeast." Now, Fleischmann's, the greatest name in yeast, brings you "Fleischmann's new B Vitamins Yeast Tablets!"*

Try them—today! They're easy to take! Thrifty! Vitamin potency is guaranteed, or money back! And, if mild B vitamin shortage is your trouble, see if you don't soon really begin to enjoy life again, with restored energy and vitality.

*Four tablets supply the adult minimum daily requirement of Vitamin B1 17% that of riboflavin, plus 2... mgs. of niacin

DEANNA DURBIN, PAT O'BRIEN, FRANCHOT TONE
"His Butler's Sister"—at Keith Memorial Starting Tuesday

Longest Kiss in Screen History at Keith's Tuesday

Outsmarting the movie censors, Director Frank Borzage has filmed the longest screen kiss on record . . . and they can't do a thing about it. The kiss, between Deanna Durbin and Franchot Tone in Universal's "His Butler's Sister," opening Tuesday on the Keith Memorial screen, is 23 stories long. It starts when the couple enter an elevator on the ground floor and doesn't end until they arrive at Tone's penthouse on top of a 22-story building.

Naturally, you don't see Deanna and Franchot all that time. The censors never would permit such a thing. But you do see them go into a clinch as they enter the elevator . . . and they're still kissing when the doors open 23 stories later.

Akim Tamiroff heads the supporting cast with Evelyn Ankers, Alan Mowbray, Frank Jenks, Walter Catlett and Elsa Janssen. This is a Felix Jackson production.

Gala Globe, Howard Bills

Promptly at one minute after midnight tomorrow the new Globe stage revue will initiate a week's run, with eye-soothing Bettina and Margie Dale and zanies Irving Selig and I. B. Hamp sharing the spotlight.

Soubrette Gertie Beck, Al Murray, straightman, and Mack Dennison, mimic, are featured members of a large cast including Marrone and Gallo, the New Yorkers, Nora and Jimmy Bell and Paul Robinson. The film features will be "Lucky Jordan," co-starring Alan Ladd and Helen Walker, and "The Lady Has Plans," with Paulette Goddard, Ray Milland and Roland Young.

There will be the usual 1-to-11 Sunday vaudeville program of seven acts tomorrow preceding the midnight opening.

Myrna-from-Smyrna Dean is again on the other side of the Old Howard footlights, making friends and influencing people to form on the right.

Another attraction is Dixie Sullivan, allegedly "a belle of the Old South." Comics Bobby Vail and Chuck Wilson, comedienne Grace Gordon and straightman Wilbur Rance are in charge of the laugh department. Specialty acts include Gayle Page, Helen Marie Watson, Mike Cahill, Boogie and Woogie and the Dobas Duo. On the screen are "Union Pacific," "Alias Boston Blackie" and the latest newsreels.

under the tall stemmed pine trees—bulldozers and many-wheeled gasoline shovels, and portable wrecking cranes and juggernauts for purposes that I must not mention. These men, in the main, have a cold, anonymous job—the "pick and shovel" soldiers, they call themselves. Men like the '42 MIT graduate, Lieut. Robert E. Krucklin of 105 Florence st., Roslindale, who (censored) knows Harry Lobdel of Tech.

Each day becomes a new and unpredictable adventure for the itinerant war reporter in this storied country, where the ruins of a medieval castle may crown the next hill or a church built before Magellan's expedition circumnavigated the world. Age is relative, and anything reared here since Oliver Cromwell's time is stamped with vulgar modernity. In these backlands it's a different England than the American tourist ever sees, and U. S. soldiers are sometimes quartered in houses that were venerable with age when Columbus was hunting a financial angel to promote his commercial scheme for short-cutting to the Indies.

Soldiers like Daniel V. Flynn of 17 Magnolia st., Malden, who wants me to tell Lou Gordon of the Judson St. Pharmacy that they "race greyhounds for the sucker trade here, too." Wonder what he means? Dan's three brothers, George, Joe and Steve, are in service, too.

Oxford Soldier's Task

And Pfc. Earl O. Rosebrooks of Douglas rd., Oxford, who had the unspectacular job of toting a fresh water supply to the Tunisian front line—in 5-gallon cans. These lads scoff at what they call "th' hero hokum," and if you try to pump them (censored) their replies sound like the weather report in the left ear of your daily journal. Rosebrooks had the inglorious task of locating a fresh supply of drinking liquid every mile the battle line moved, chlorinating it and packing it overland by jeep or piggyback.

"Say," testified Sergt. Arthur F. DeFranzo of 16 Prospect ave., Saugus, "ever have the inside of your mouth feel like it was filled with fish hooks. Dry? Say, I've been so dry in Africa I wouldn't smoke for fear my tonsils 'd catch fire. And then I'd see some 'water-monkey' come up with a can of sky-juice. Maybe it stunk with chlorine. Maybe it tasted like the inside of a motorman's glove. But to us it was God's own champagne. Tell the folks back home to think of the guys in South Italy, when they have that call for the next beer." Sergt. Art is an old CCC graduate, and has brothers, Bill and Flore, in the service.

Another of these "back-stage warriors" who never give the headlines anything but a good Saxon-English cuss, are the mess sergeants, like Staff Sergt. Edward Smith of 364 Lawrence st., Lowell, who got his hot stew to the firing line by hook, or otherwise—"slum" that he and helpers carried in mermite vacuum containers, up dry gullies, around the shoulder of a cliff or made makeshift meals from captured Italian cheese paste, which came in toothpaste tubes, like a camel's foot, or ersatz German sausage (not bad!). For the sake of variety, many a U. S. "doggie" has eaten Nazi rations and pronounced it good. They testify that whatever the Nazi homefolk eat, or don't the German front line is amply provisioned.

"Jeep Kidneys"

This agent has moved from his last temporary base like the advance man of a country carnival, and is ensconsed in a farm village, which forms the central core of another infantry colony, spread fanwise over the land. I've already contracted the familiar ailment called "Jeep kidneys" from the rugged, bouncing, spinal-massage of the bantam motors which have all the comforts of riding a rodeo bronc.

Yonder, where a plowman who might have come straight from Gray's Elegy (you remember—"The lowing herd winds slowly oer the lea . . ."), is a squat settlement where your soldiers live, men who remember the good things of U. S. community plenty and are counting on coming back some day to the good life. Men like Staff Sergt. John R. Sonia of 6 Amero ct., Gloucester, who drove an ice truck for Hygenic, preferred his brew in the Pine Tree Tavern, and liked to dance with Lillian Munroe at Long Beach. Men like Pvt. Howard Benjamin of 49 Concord st., Boston, who tricked up window displays for Sears Roebuck, and boarded with his godmother, Mrs. James Gordon.

And Pvt. Charles E. Young of 16 Parkman st., Brighton, who trucked for Horace Cahill's Express, and played quarterback for the Lincoln A. C. Or Sergt. Wilfred A. Parent of 21 East st., Winchendon. Or Pfc. Ned Kashmanian of 33 Fairfield st., Watertown, a heavy mortar man who carries one of those 46-pound base plates and developed the he-man physique to do it, playing guard for Joe Murphy's Watertown High team.

Poison Gas Test

Your lucky opportunist arrived in this hamlet just in time for the weekly poison gas drill. A long, stable-like building was filled with a lacrimatory gas (all right then, tear gas) and the officers and men fixed on their rubber pig snouts in place and went in.

1st Lieut. Joe P. Gurka of 12 Bennington st., Lawrence, the osteopath, who is now a line officer, was one. Pvt. Charles H. Whitaker of 2 Union pl., Greenbush, whose brother, Everett L., is a Boston policeman, was another. Capt. Tom T. Crowley of 10 Avon st., Cambridge, who was commodore of the MIT Yacht Club, and goes nuts every time he sees a photo of a catboat, was another. For gas is no respecter of rank or persons, as your emissary pemptly leaned.

Indeed, as Joe, Charley and Tom exited from the lethal chamber and greeted this non-combatant, the noxious fumes still saturated their clothing, and not only blinded them but your author as well. "It musta been a super strong dose," mused Capt. Crowley. It musta! And how's YOUR myopia tonight?

WHY OVAL SHAPE SOAP LASTS LONGER

Now's no time for waste-away soap! So pay particular attention to the shape of the soap you buy. That's the way to be thrifty. Notice that SweetHeart Soap is OVAL—rounded top and bottom. Unlike many soaps that lie flat, only a very small part of SweetHeart's big oval cake actually touches the wet soap dish. Air dries it off fast—helps avoid wasteful "jelly" in the wet soap-dish. Among eight leading brands, only long-lasting SweetHeart Soap is oval in shape.

SAVE SOAP and speed victory!
Urgent war materials are used in making soap. Don't waste it.

Miss Joan De Camp Engaged

By BETTY ALDEN

LIEUT.-COMDR. AND MRS. THEODORE L. DE CAMP of Newtonville announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan, to Hugh Clarke Tuttle, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Penn Tuttle of Dover, N. H. Miss De Camp is a grand-daughter of Mrs. Joseph De Camp and the late Joseph De Camp, noted portrait painters. She graduated from Mount St. Mary. Mr. Tuttle is a Harvard 1943 graduate and at present is completing agriculture study at the University of New Hampshire.

MANY ATTEND LUNCHEON

IT TAKES MORE than a blizzard to dampen the enthusiasm of Greater Boston women who work so tirelessly for the British War Relief Society, judging by the crowd that turned out for yesterday's dutch treat luncheon at the Statler. The occasion was in honor of Clark Minor, national chairman, who told of his recent trip to England.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel de Menocal were at the head table with Robert Mortimore, who announced a need for donations of Church of England Prayer Books for a number of British ships built and outfitted here. Nearby was Mrs. Bartlett Harwood, who lends a helping hand to so many good causes. She had on her stormy weather boots but otherwise looked springlike and gay in a powder blue tweed suit and hat. And Mrs. John Kennedy, who manages the uptown branch of BWRS in addition to her job as supervisor of interior decoration for a chain of Eastern hotels, was in a cheerful violet wool outfit.

Looking more like a fashionable matron on her way to a wedding or matinee than a stormy day commuter, Mrs. William Bayne of Westwood was modish in all black with diamond clips on her beanie. Because of the crowd Mrs. Richard Wood and Mrs. Robert Bainbridge gave up their table and balanced plates of seafood newburgh on their knees while they perched on a window sill, and Mrs. Robert Steinert and Mrs. Samuel Chamberlain had a stand-up lunch. Mrs. Livingston Davis lunched in the group from the uptown branch and others present were Mrs. Philip Spalding, Mrs. John Palfrey, Mrs. Nathaniel Whittier, apprehensive about getting home to Medfield in the storm, her mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles Whittier of Milton, Mrs. John Perrin, Mrs. Robert Herrick, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Griswold and many more.

Fashion

WITH A SOFTLY tailored suit in your wardrobe, you will gain all that zest for new living that the spring brings. And, too, you will be smartly and correctly garbed . . . With the trend definitely towards the feminine . . . this fetching and youthful rayon twill suit with a big bow of taffeta at the neckline . . . is the new "feeling" detail of spring clothes. An upturned collar and three buttons trim the slightly flaring jacket. The skirt is soft and easy of line. Charming RKO Star Constance Moore models the outfit. R. M.

Beauty

FOR A COMPLEXION of unusual loveliness . . . a woman must choose her cosmetics wisely and apply them properly. The quest for facial beauty is a woman's response to one of her deepest instincts . . . and, when achieved imbues her with a new-found confidence and poise. It can even change her destiny. Charm personified is Sally O'Neil . . . her beauty, the dream of any artist's talent.

Colors to Dominate New Play Clothes

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THAT OLD SONG . . . "I don't want to play in your yard" . . . has been completely reversed by war conditions . . . and, this year . . . anyone who has a backyard to play in . . . will be aces with their friends.

Which, of course, is one of the stellar reasons why play clothes . . . any and all kinds . . . will assume such an important fashion role when the warm weather rolls around . . . for color and brilliance will light up your back yard . . . like moonlight on a pond.

The fashion trend for play clothes anywhere . . . is towards the backless midriff suit with a skirt or overdress . . . And, while it may be a bit optimistic to write about the warm weather . . . as I look out of my office window . . . every girl should now make plans to meet it when it comes.

UNIQUE DESIGNS

For the new play clothes will afford ample opportunity to acquire a fashionable tan at home as at the seashore . . . since it will be the same sky, sun and earth everywhere.

Brilliance, color, dash and unique designing . . . feature the California play clothes in which the movie stars relax between pictures. Cottons lead the way in materials . . . with piques, percales, sharkskin and soft cotton fabrics of all kinds . . . proving the most delightful. Flowers are splashed everywhere . . . and stripes, and checks all blaze in a riot of color.

Ginger Rogers loves a red and white play suit, one piece, buttoned down the front . . . with stripes reversed on blouse and shorts to give the illusion of a two-piece suit. Little Margie Stewart . . . who has a lovely figure . . . revels in her smart white sharkskin suit with overdress of gray.

BASIC SUIT NEEDED

Another movie favorite is a halter style white pique . . . with wide waistband and flaring short skirt . . . and accented by a huge pink rose . . . looking almost hand-painted. Playsuits are practical but gay . . . and you'll be pleased to buy them now and tuck them away for future use.

Suits . . . whether for playtime or daytime . . . are the piece de resistance of the fashion parade. No spring wardrobe will be complete without, at least, one basic suit . . . which can be frilled and trimmed up with feminine detail above the waist . . . soft, easy skirts . . . nice treatment about the necklines . . . all revealing the trend towards the feminine.

To suit the spring vogue, you must be suited!

Crisp, Tender Waffles Grand Valentine Tokens

By MARTHA LEE

FEBRUARY IS THE MONTH for sending sweet messages. Valentine tokens of crisp, tender waffles make a mighty nice way to charm that certain someone. Clever is the kitcheneer who plans her strategy around a spotless shiny waffle iron and pitcher of creamy waffle batter.

Throughout the year, as well as in February, a favorite waffle recipe offers pleasing solutions to menu planning. Here is one such versatile waffle recipe.

WAFFLES

2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 tsp. baking powder 1 tsp. salt
3 eggs, separated 1½ cups milk
6 tbsp. melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Beat egg yolks and add milk and melted shortening. Add to flour mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on hot waffle iron. Makes five 7-inch waffles.

One-half cup of nippy grated cheese added to the batter makes excellent waffles to accompany fried apples. Cheese waffles unite four favorite food families — cheese, eggs, milk and enriched flour to make a food Valentine chockful of B-vitamins, food iron, and protein.

DESSERT WAFFLES

As a dessert, sweet canned peaches make a tempting crown for crisp delicate waffles. Arrange slices of peaches on waffles in heart fashion for a luscious version of a lacy memorable valentine. Gingerbread waffles offer another pleasing variety to the waffle clan. The mellow rich fragrance of molasses and pungent aroma of ginger give these waffles their inviting flavor. Serve Gingerbread Waffles with Foamy Sauce as the victory special for good desserts in 1944.

GINGERBREAD WAFFLES

2 eggs, separated
½ cup melted shortening
1 cup molasses
2 cups sifted enriched flour
½ tsp. soda 1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. ginger ½ tsp. salt
½ cup sour milk

Beat together egg yolks, shortening and molasses. Sift together flour, soda, baking powder, ginger and salt. Add flour mixture to yolk mixture alternately with milk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron. Makes 4 waffles.

FOAMY SAUCE

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 tsp. vanilla extract

Work the butter with a spoon or beat with an electric beater until light and creamy. Then add the sugar gradually while continuing to work with a spoon or beat with an electric beater until fluffy. Then beat in the egg and vanilla, and heat, while stirring, over boiling water, about 2 minutes. Serve with hot steamed or baked pudding or gingerbread. Makes 6 servings.

Uncle Sam Sends a Valentine to Willie Jones

Tax Party

Filled with the spirit of good citizenship, Willie Jones, a Boston American photographer (Entered as item 15, page 1, or which ever is smaller, subject to limitation), sat down to fill out his income tax report (Net profit, column 2, less amount owned at end of year, par value). Bill had a baby a little while ago (Defined by section 501 Internal Revenue Code, or if fiduciary, depreciation allowed). A son is in the South Pacific, a girl is schooling away from home, he's sold his car, he has other kids and he's moved and had doctor's bills, and he figured. Who were his dependents (one-half of Item 19c, or Line 21d, including fiduciary)? He figured and figured—profits, deductions, interest, assets, surtaxes, victory taxes, syntaxes. And finally he got down to "under penalties of perjury." The visiting hours are from 2 to 4.

Veterans File for Muster-Out Pay

Applicant—Sergt. Frank Lomanno, who has been honorably discharged from the Army and his wife are aided by Clerk Agnes Glancy of Roslindale in filing his application for mustering-out pay at the Army Finance Office, 80 Federal st.

By DONALD MacPHAIL

MORE than $1,000,000 in $100 checks have already been mailed out to honorably discharged veterans of World War II who have filed their applications for mustering-out pay at the Army Finance Office, 80 Federal st., within the past five days. And in the words of William Murray, administrative officer and chief of the pay and allowance branch:

"This is only the beginning."

"To date we have issued more than $1,000,000.00 worth of checks, but by this time next week, we estimate that figure will be nearer the $3,000,000.00 mark," said Murray, who, at the time of the statement was as busy as six of the proverbial one-armed paper-hangers.

The task of registration takes only seven minutes from the time that the veteran steps off the 15th floor elevator to find his application in hand, through the two-minute job of filling it out in pen and ink, to attaching his discharge certificate to the application and turning it over to one of three girls ready to check it over.

About 500-800 applications are filled out per day by the veterans in person, and the remaining applications come in via mail to the tune of 1500 to 2000 each day.

Veterans who have not as yet registered due to the inability to leave their jobs during the week will be allowed to file their applications between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. tomorrow. A special staff will be on hand to answer any and all questions.

Only holders of honorable discharges—that have the identifying symbol on the lower left-hand corner as W.D.A.G.O. No. 55-280, will be acceptable. Holders of pink or blue certificates need not apply.

DO NOT send in photostatic copies of the honorable discharge certificate with your applications. They will be returned without being recorded. ONLY the original certificate of discharge will be accepted, Murray warned.

Lincoln Lore

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12 (AP)—Did Abraham Lincoln spring from Pennsylvania stock?

The Great Emancipator himself records "a vague tradition" that he did.

A Lincoln letter in the collection of Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, noted dealer in rare books and manuscripts, reads in part:

"We have a vague tradition, that my great-grandfather went from Pennsylvania to Virginia, and that he was a Quaker—further back than this I have never heard anything."

Lincoln's Wisdom

"HIS HEART was as great as the world, but there was no room in it to hold the memory of a wrong."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON ON LINCOLN, IN 1875.

THIS, the 135th, anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln has a peculiar and unusual significance for Americans.

Like President Roosevelt, Lincoln was a war President.

He was also a President who stood at one of the great turning points in the history of the Republic.

Seventy-nine years after his death we stand again at a turning point in the history of the Republic.

It may be the final turning point.

What, then, has Lincoln, the most beloved of our Presidents and the one who is nearest to the heart of the American people, to say to his fellow-countrymen today from the shadows?

Let the Great Emancipator speak to us in his own words:

"I believe this government cannot endure half slave and half free."

Let us then see that no form of political or social slavery—Communism, Fascism or personal regimentation of any kind—shall overthrow our free institutions.

"As I would not be a slave, I would not be a master. This expresses my idea of democracy."

Given almost unlimited powers in a time of civil war, Lincoln never abused his power.

He was never a dictator.

But today what guarantee have the American people that a dictator is not on the way—is not, in fact, here, potentially at least?

"While the people retain their virtue and vigilance no Administration, by any extreme of wickedness or folly, can very seriously injure the government in the short space of four years."

But what about twelve years?

And will the people retain their "vigilance"?

"The world has never had a good definition of the word liberty and the American people just now are much in want of one."

Lincoln said that in 1864.

How much truer that is for the American people today, in 1944, when their liberties are threatened by giant bureaucracies and executive usurpations in domestic matters of which Lincoln never dreamed in his day!

"I have not permitted myself, gentlemen, to conclude that I am the best man in the country."

That lack of egotism has not descended to all of his successors.

Those are some of the sayings of Lincoln that are applicable to the United States and the American people of today.

He was in the habit of saying also that you couldn't fool all of the people all of the time.

It may not be necessary to fool all the people all of the time to destroy the American form of government and the liberties of the people.

It might be done by fooling only a majority of them for twelve years—or maybe sixteen.

Augustus Caesar, Oliver Cromwell, Napoleon I, Napoleon III, Adolf Hitler and Nicolai Lenin, for instance, destroyed the liberties of their people in less time than that—and it wasn't necessary to fool all of the people, either.

Lincoln's Republic is in our hands.

The American people must decide this year whether "a government of the people, for the people and by the people" shall perish or continue as Washington, the founder, and Lincoln, the savior, conceived it.

Preserving Veterans' Papers

ALL VETERANS of World War II should have their military records photographed at the earliest convenient date.

In co-operation with the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, Mayor Tobin has established a bureau to render this necessary service.

This bureau will function as part of the municipally-sponsored Veterans' Reception and Information Center in the Houghton & Dutton Building, Tremont and Beacon streets.

Photostatic copies of veterans' papers are also being made by employes of the Secretary of State's office, where the papers are carefully preserved in the Commonwealth's archives.

Moreover, Rep. David Cleary of Charlestown plans to ask the Legislature to amend the general laws to require city and town clerks to file veterans' records without cost to the men.

Servicemen's records, particularly discharge or release papers, are valuable possessions.

They are required when the former soldier or sailor seeks the sums of money that the State and nation have provided for his care and rehabilitation.

Every possible effort should be made by municipalities, states and the federal government to give servicemen's records the utmost protection. And for his own good, every serviceman should avail himself of it.

Dear God, my loved one is far away,
And on my humble knees today
All I ask is that You keep him well
And no sadness in his heart dwell.
Let no sickness waste his form,
Let no worry in his heart be born,
Keep his mind clear and free
And, dear God, don't let him forget me.

—MRS. ANON.

THIS PRAYER was written by a soldier's wife for her own use. She wishes to remain anonymous, but thinks perhaps some others with husbands or sweethearts in the armed forces might want to use this prayer or, on reading it, will be inspired to make up prayers of their own . . The average person remembers nothing that happened to him before the age of 5. So states Dr. Robert Allen. I question that statement. I remember very clearly many things that happened on my first trip to England. I was 3 years old at the time . . . "Onward Christian Soldiers" is sixth on my list of favorite hymns. I like it best when played by a Salvation Army band . . . A 16-year-old feminine subscriber of Detroit confesses: "The first time I was ever kissed was in a darkened movie house." Do you remember your first kiss, lady? If not, what is the first kiss you remember?

OBJECTION: "As to your claim there was a flaw in the breeding of Black Gold, on which claim, by the decision of Clem McCarthy, you lost a wager of a lunch to J. J. Murphy," writes A. V. Stout. "Do not buy Mr. Murphy that lunch until you have done some more research on the subject. Demand Judge McCarthy have the 'objection' sign put up. You may be right. A few years ago an article in a national magazine specifically stated that Black Gold's dam was a cold blooded mare but sired by a thoroughbred. Surely if Black Gold had been a 100 per cent thoroughbred, a horse of his reputation would have had some progeny."

LOVE, ETC.: Eleanor Husband: "Remember, any man can be a husband but any husband is not a lover." (Note—The complaints by women that many husbands are poor lovers are innumerable and continuous. This department has been reliably informed there are many wives who still have much to learn about love. In fact, some impartial experts on the subject say there are more wives who are ignorant and inept as to love than husbands.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: From the Cincinnati Enquirer of January, 1863: "Dr. William McCarthy was on Thursday night in attendance to a lady of 69 years of age who gave birth to a fine boy. The father of the child is 74 . . . The strongest, healthiest and longest lived people in the world are those of the Hunza group in India. At 70 a Hunza man is just a young fellow. Many of the Hunza tribe are still playing polo at 90. This department is making an effort to find out what makes the Hunzas live so long and feel so well in extreme old age. I think diet has a lot to do with it.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Who do you say wrote Shakespeare's plays, Bacon or Shakespeare? A—Hey, don't let us start that argument here. Maybe Bacon did furnish some of the basic material for some of the plays but undoubtedly Shakespeare wrote the plays and prepared them for production. Consider the play, "Julius Caesar." All the principal parts are good. Each actor has one big scene in which to display his talents. Also consider "Othello." The part of Iago is just as good as the title role. Only an actor and producer would write plays that way. Q—You say John McGraw was the best baseball manager of all time. Who is the best of the currently active managers? A—Bill McKechnie . . . Q—How long would it take a bomber to get from Vladivostock to Tokyo and the heart of industrial Japan? A—About two hours. As I recently stated, if the Soviets would declare war on Japan and the United Nations could use Vladivostock as an air base, the Japs wouldn't last six months. We would soon be revenged for Bataan.

SIDELIGHTS: Henry King of London, Eng., 108 years old, states he has always been a non-drinker and non-smoker. Wonder who is the oldest living man who drinks and smokes? I know of a man who is 91 who likes a cigar and a little drink now and then . . . The name of an organization of Chicago women who are from 40 to 60 years of age is the Frank Sinatra Fan and Mah-Jongg Club.

"Look, from one of the nurses at the dispensary!"

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Friday—I had a visit from a Red Cross worker back from one of our fronts yesterday afternoon. I was impressed by her feeling that we, at home, were not giving the proper respect to the overseas boys when they return, permanently or on furlough. I imagine that any boy coming back to his home is made much of and listened to. But in many places, particularly ports of debarkation, we are so crowded and so busy that we do not give as much thought as we should to what it would mean to these boys if every one of us gave them the respect and attention due them.

I WANT TO GIVE YOU excerpts from two letters which have just come to me and which will show what people from home mean to men who are overseas, and how rewarding it is to feel that one has given even a short period of pleasure to these men. The first is from a young Red Cross worker whom I have known for a long time. "I wish you could have seen our men this afternoon—the lounge was packed—and you could have heard a pin drop. They do appreciate anything that is good. If only more of our top artists would come over from America."

THE NEXT IS FROM a British musician: "Having just given a concert here to the American soldiers (one of several I have been giving them in different clubs), I felt that you and the President might like to know about it, and how happy I have been to give them an hour of music to stimulate and soothe them so far away from home."

Our servicemen want attention when they are far away from home. How much more they must want it the day they get home and the days thereafter if they happen to be held in a strange place by hospitalization! It seems to me that a serviceman from overseas should go to the head of any line, be the first served in a restaurant, get the best seat everywhere. He is giving so much for his home, and we can give him so little in return.

Hollywood

. . . . By Louella O. Parsons

Distributed by International News Service

NEW YORK, Feb. 12—I once told Roz Russell that if she made every picture announced for her she would have to be—not twins—but quintuplets.

The truth is Roz fits almost every type of story from a wacky comedy to sophisticated drama, so it's little wonder every good story Columbia snags is bought with La Russell in mind. This past week three yarns were announced for her.

Frank Sinatra

I believe the one that will get under the wire first is "What's Wrong With Love?" an original by William Thiele and Laslos Gorog. It's high comedy about a lady psychiatrist. Now that "Lady in the Dark" has introduced psychiatry to the movies, watch for these "psych" movies to crop up. They certainly serve as a neat way to dodge the censors.

★ ★ ★

THE PART of the colorful, independent great-granddaughter in "Mrs. Parkington" goes to Donna Reed, a girl I've always thought could be another Joan Fontaine with the right roles. Not that she hasn't had some pretty good breaks at M-G-M, but she could handle better ones. Donna just finished the role of the wife in "See Here Private Hargrove," and speaking of that movie, reminds me that Sergt. Marion Hargrove (he's been promoted) is back in this country after months in India and China. He was a special correspondent on "Yank," the Army paper, and he'll be on hand for the premiere of his comedy at Ft. Bragg Sunday.

YOU CAN'T dislike Frank Sinatra, at least not for very long. He's just a kid (even if he is the father of two little Sinatras) and sometimes he's a little cocky. But he does nice things and I don't know anybody who feels so indebted to his devoted fanatics. A couple of days ago RKO had to close Frankie's set on "Manhattan Serenade" to visitors because so many of the girls working in the wardrobe and stenographic departments of the studio were taking leave to watch him. When Frank heard of the ban he issued an invitation to all the femme workers at RKO who "would like to come" to attend a party he's tossing after the picture is finished.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Anna Lee leaves Tuesday for Reno to establish the necessary residence to divorce Robert Stevenson. When she is free, talk is Anna will marry an Air Corps captain she met in North Africa. I understand she will get the custody of the two children, with the provision, of course, that their father, now a major in the Signal Corps, can see them at any time.

SNAPSHOTS OF NEW YORK AND HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Phyllis Brooks, quite the gayest gal in New York, has Lieut. Truman Davis' heart thumping; there'll be no fireworks over the Donald O'Connor-Gwen Carter elopement, but I hear both paternal sides feel the kids were too young to take the plunge; the Wayne Morris baby (she's Pat Stewart) is due in May. But things aren't so rosy between the Don (Red) Barrys (Peggy Stewart—Pat's sister) who have rifted after welcoming the stork a few months ago; a bouquet to the entire Slapsy Maxie floor show gang (headed by Phil Harris) who spent their day off at the Naval hospital in San Diego doing their stint for the boys.

WILLIAM K. HOWARD has his eye on a stage production—"In His Father's House," a show that will debut on the Coast; speaking of our old director friends, Harry Beaumont, who made many of MGM's biggest hits, returns there to megaphone "Maisie Goes to Reno"; Heather Angel and Ronald Colman, who have celebrated their joint birthdays for years, were honored guests at a party tossed by Mrs. C., with Hollywood's British set on hand.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12—Gypsy Rose Lee's car turned over while the stripteuse was driving in Mississippi the other day. She narrowly escaped death . . . Veronica Lake is wearing a $5000 diamond-and-ruby wrist watch from Jean Negulesco . . . Joan Fontaine, who is continuing her bond tour despite illness and against doctors' orders, has two nurses in constant attendance . . . Alice Marble and Ted Husing are a new duet . . . Despite the yell for a National Service Act, many Eastern shipyards are laying off workers . . . Lena Horne is slated to be the next Mrs. Joe Louis as soon as Marva Trotter gets the final papers.

THE ABC BOARD is eyeing one of the rowdier Village spots . . . Sergt. Bill Buckner and his bride, the former Lillian Garis, now have custody of his son by Adelaide Moffett. They're living in Anniston, Ala. . . . Jimmy Ritz and model Lucille Case are a heartillery barrage . . . Ruthie Lane, Leon & Eddie's pretty dance director, is in the Park East Hospital for a major operation . . . Gene Krupa's friends are optimistic about his chances for a new trial. One of the most important witnesses against him has signed an affidavit saying the testimony was a lie . . . Lee Mortimer and Noel Toy are twain who no longer meet . . . Hollywood is still agog about the serviceman who heaved a practice-type hand grenade (with the pin pulled) onto the bandstand of a Vine st. cabaret. The explosion blew a hole in the floor and sent one patron to the hospital. But the incident never got into the gazettes.

LEE WILEY changed her mind about a divorce from Jess Stacy, the pianist, after a brief whirl in Reno . . . An actor slated for overseas USO assignment has the femme members of his company terrified—he's such a big, bad wolf! . . . There's Sardi talk that Frances Farmer may return to the footlights in a Broadway play opposite Carl Brisson . . . Tallulah Bankhead has a new enthusiasm: painting in oils . . . The Forrest Tuckers will lullaby in June . . . Barbara Stanwyck has lost much too much weight . . . Television is starting a vocabulary of its own. "Videogenic" means that you look good over the air.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12—B. S. Pully, the Broadway character, is fast becoming a Hollywood character. Pully, while waiting around on the set of "Greenwich Village" to do a scene, was being kidded by Phil Silvers.

Greer Garson

"What's your attitude supposed to be in this scene?" asked Silvers.

"Attitude!" said Pully, "who knows from attitude? I just got a line to say, that's all."

"Are you kidding?" asked Phil. "In pictures you can't even say a single word without knowing what your attitude is supposed to be. Ask Cary Grant or Spencer Tracy or any of the good actors. They never go into a scene without knowing their attitude."

Since Pully was new to pictures he believed there might be something to this. He went over to Director Walter Lang and said: "I beg your pardon, Mr. Lang, what's supposed to be my attitude here?" Director Lang looked at Pully rather puzzled then replied: "Chagrin," and walked away.

Pully stood there watching him. Then walked back to Phil Silvers, and said: "A big man. He thinks I don't know what chagrin means . . . I don't even know what attitude is!"

NOTICING Katharine Hepburn on the set of "Dragon Seed" at Metro recalled the incident when all the Metro players were gathered together for a photograph. Miss Hepburn sat next to L. B. Mayer, but the other seat next to him was kept vacant. No matter which actor or actress entered the room, this seat was kept vacant. Then Greer Garson made an entrance and went directly to this seat. Wallace Beery whispered to his neighbor: "Who's the dame that just sat next to the boss?"

CARY GRANT and Alan Carney are going to put together an act to play the Army camps . . . Olivia de Havilland and John Houseman continue to do the town together . . . Belita tells about the agent who approached a producer and tried to interest him in a writer. The agent said, "This writer has just sold four originals, and has a hit play now on Broadway." "Then I don't want him," replied the producer. The agent, puzzled, asked, "Why not?" The producer replied, "He's all written out." But don't get me wrong. I love Hollywood.

"Heavens, Tom! According to this test I took, I'm not happily married!"

The Big White House

By George E. Sokolsky

THIS LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY reminds us that 1864 and 1944 are similar in the fact that both years were constitutionally set apart for national elections. The essence of our political system is limited tenure in office constitutionally fixed. Our country today is different from the America Lincoln knew only in a few sharp rises in the luxuries of living; but the soul of a free people does not change appreciably as long as they remain free, no matter what the exterior alterations in their lives may be.

Lincoln understood this so well, for he was, of all men the lowliest in origin; yet he became the highest in rank.

Men have, of course, risen high in other times and other lands whose ancestors were as lowly in the social and economic scale as Abe Lincoln's, but their rise was rarely by the narrow path of personal probity and public integrity. Genghis Khan rose by slaughter and rapine. But Lincoln's bequests to his people were greater than the Mongol Empire and lasted longer. Lincoln must have recognized the paradox of rising to power without employing power; of preserving a state without destroying some other state.

On Aug. 22, 1864, he addressed the 166th Ohio Regiment which was returning home from the front. Only four days before he had spoken to another Ohio regiment and he said to them:

"There is more involved in this contest than is realized by every one. There is involved in this struggle the question whether your children and my children shall enjoy the privileges we have enjoyed. I say this in order to impress upon you, if you are not already so impressed, that no small matter should divert us from our great purpose."

THESE WORDS must have played through his mind during those hot and fearsome August days. For when he faced the 166th Ohio regiment he amplified them into this magnificent statement of Americanism:

"I almost always feel inclined, when I say anything to soldiers, to impress upon them, in a few brief remarks, the importance of success in this contest. It is not merely for the day, but for all time to come, that we should perpetuate for our children's children that great and free government which we have enjoyed all our lives. I beg you to remember this, not merely for my sake, but for yours. I happen, temporarily, to occupy this big White House. I am a living witness that any one of your children may look to come here as my father's child has. It is in order that each one of you may have, through this free government which we have enjoyed, an open field, and a fair chance for your industry, enterprise and intelligence; that you may all have equal privileges in the race of life with all its desirable human aspirations—it is for this that the struggle should be maintained, that we may not lose our birthrights—not only for one, but for two or three years, if necessary. The nation is worth fighting for, to secure such an inestimable jewel."

LET US REPEAT:

"I happen, temporarily, to occupy this big White House. I am a living witness that any one of your children may look to come here as my father's child has."

The father of the child who spoke those words was a ne'er-do-well backwoodsman who seemed to have spent his life sitting on a tree stump. That child grew into the figure of a man who among the thirty-two that became President of this land was second only to Washington and surpassed in the humanity of his spirit by no one. He is not remembered as much for his service as for his personality, not as much for his accomplishments as for his philosophy of Americanism. The opportunity for such a rise to national pre-eminence must never be lost to the children of America—never as long as the memory of Lincoln survives in our land.

Hub Loses Fish By Union Rule

A conflicting idea between the Atlantic Fishermen's Union and the State Bureau of Marine Fisheries was seen today as responsible for the Port of Boston losing the season's largest fish catch.

The trawler William J. O'Brien pulled into port with 125,000 pounds of haddock. A state inspector who viewed the load said they were liable to spoil if they were unloaded by fork and threatened to condemn them if that method of unloading was employed.

Under union rules, forks must be used in unloading all fish in Boston.

and on the main front in the last week, headquarters announced. The enemy also has suffered heavy tolls of dead and wounded.

In the Garigliano sector west of Cassino the Germans put in a determined attack against the British near Mt. Ornito. On the Eighth Army front two enemy patrols were driven back.

Bad weather retarded shipping, but movement of reinforcements and supplies to the invasion beachhead continued.

The fact no German attacks of great intensity were launched on the beachhead yesterday may have been the result of terrific Allied air blows.

It also is possible the Germans already may have spent their offensive strength against the beachhead and must regroup before undertaking a major drive.

CLEARING WEATHER HOPE

A 45-mile-an-hour gale blew in from the Mediterranean this morning, but there were signs by noon the weather was abating, giving hope Allied planes might be able to strike the Nazis again around the beachhead.

Allied warships still range the coast, turning big guns on the enemy as requested by the ground command. Six-inch guns of the cruisers can hurl shells 10 miles inland, thus reaching almost every part of the German front.

While the position of beachhead troops admittedly was difficult, there was reason to believe they not only would hold, but after the Germans spend themselves in repeated attacks would drive the enemy out of the area.

There also was a good prospect that the main Fifth Army force will break through and join bridgehead troops.

German Shells Kill Nurses in Hospital

AT THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD IN ITALY—Four German shells landing on an American field hospital which was carefully marked with Red Cross flags both on the tents and spread on the ground killed two women nurses, wounded four medical officers and wounded three enlisted men.

This makes a total of six American women nurses killed on this beachhead since the landings three weeks ago tomorrow.

New Postwar-Career Plan
Designed to Start Draft-Exempt Men Between 18 and 35 Along the Road After-the-War Skiercourse!

One of the nation's truly big postwar industries will be air transportation. Its expansion will provide limitless opportunities. American Airlines has conceived a Postwar-Career Plan which will help you take advantage of these opportunities now. Your initial work will be as a Fleet Service Clerk and will consist of loading and unloading cargo and other duties connected with the servicing and operation of Flagships. Starting salary, 50 cents an hour. At the end of six months a salary increase is guaranteed upon your passage of a trade test. From that point on, the door is wide open to rapid advancement commensurate with your ability.

If you are interested drop in for a discussion. We'll give you all the details about American Airlines' Postwar-Career Plan. Come to the American Airlines' office in the Commonwealth Airport in East Boston Monday or Tuesday between 9 A. M. and 4 P. M. Please bring birth certificate if possible. Essential workers need release statements.

Boston Girls' Song on Air

A third certificate of merit was awarded to the Junior Victory Army today when Youth on Parade honored Lieut. Muriel Brown, 15, and her Gen. Eisenhower Corps of New York during the 30-minute program broadcast on a nation-wide hookup by WEEI.

Muriel is a charter member of the JVA sponsored by the New York Journal-American, an associate newspaper of the Boston Daily Record-Evening American-Sunday Advertiser.

She and her corps have been outstanding in salvage campaigns and other Home Front activities.

Highlight of the program, directed by Dolphe Martin, was the song "Bull Frogs and Marines" written by Dorothy Wayman and Clarissa Alken of Boston.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to Junior Victory Army headquarters, P. O. Box 238, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Dodds, Hulse Ready for Great B. A. A. Mile Test

By JACK CONWAY

GIL DODDS AND Bill Hulse are expected to furnish one of the greatest miles in the 55 years of the B. A. A. games when they clash in the Hunter Mile at the Garden tonight. It is the opinion of track experts that the winner will crack Glenn Cunningham's mark of 4.10 for the mile at the Unicorn meet.

Just to furnish a little window dressing Rudy Simms of New York, Dick Hall of Princeton and Clark Judge of Dartmouth will also take part in the Hunter Mile. It is unlikely that any of these runners will be even close to Dodds and Hulse at the finish.

Gil Dodds

Dodds, national outdoor champion, and Hulse, holder of the American record for the mile, should make it a two-man race. The hearts of Boston track devotees will beat fast as these two stars whirl around the 11-lap race. It will be a Dodds gathering, but it will also give Hulse fitting credit for what he does.

The race is a toss-up as far as form goes, and there are few experts who care to pick a winner. Dez Wadsworth, chairman of the B. A. A. games, is still sticking to his prediction that Hulse will win.

The Billings two-mile event is another glittering contest. Like the Hunter Mile, it is said to be a two-man battle between Ollie Hunter of Columbia and formerly of Notre Dame setting the pace. Jim Rafferty of New York, who defeated Hunter in the Millrose games, may upset Hunter's plans. Hunter won from Rafferty easily, prior to the Millrose meet and he will strive to gain revenge tonight.

13,500 to See Meet

GENERAL MANAGER TOM KANALY of the Garden, who has worked out the program for tonight with Dez Wadsworth, says there will be 13,500 persons on hand. This means a capacity gathering. Down through the years the B. A. A. games have always furnished brilliant competition and stirring action.

"This is the third war the B. A. A. games have been through," said Tom Kanaly. "There was the Spanish-American War, World War I and now World War II. We will have more than 300 athletes in competition, and I think the caliber of the games will be very high."

Kanaly called attention to the fact that Lieut.-Col. Walter Brown was so anxious to keep the B. A. A. games going that in two previous years he had the Ice Follies take open dates on Saturdays. This year the Ice Follies arranged to come to Boston a little later so that it would not have to pass up Saturday dates for the historic B. A. A. games.

The B. A. A. track meet, like the B. A. A. Marathon, is a local institution and should always have the right of way over other indoor attractions.

Claude Young Ready

CLAUDE YOUNG, sensational 17-year-old runner from Illinois, will show his bullet-like speed in the 50-yard dash. Young is the fastest human in the world and is picked to win tonight.

With John T. Fulton, Olympic star from San Francisco, in the 1000-yard run, there are many persons who believe that Herbert McKenley of Boston College will win from Jimmy Herbert in the 600-yard run.

Edward Dugger of the Army is a slight favorite to win the hurdles over Thomas H. Todds, Jr., of Siena College, Albany.

In the high jump, Bill Vessie of Dartmouth is expected to win from Dave Albritton of Dayton and Fred Thackery of the New York A. C.

George Spitz' record of six feet eight and a half inches for the meet is in danger. Vessie won the high jump at the Millrose games with a leap of six feet six inches.

Jack DeField of the University of Minnesota rules a choice in the pole vault. He should receive his most serious competition from Mikton S. Parker of the Army, J. G. Padway of the Army and J. G. Pulliam of Dartmouth.

Dr. G. D. Horrax of Williams, referee, will see that every athlete who competes receives a fair deal.

The team races will bring together the better college, club and school relay teams and should produce fine races.

B's at Full Strength For Clash With Wings

By BILL GRIMES

For the first time in more than a month, the Bruins will be at war strength tomorrow night when they tackle the Detroit Red Wings at the Boston Garden.

Bill Cowley, the Bruins' "ace" play maker, who was sidelined by a shoulder separation in Toronto on Jan. 8, and "Busher" Jackson, who has been on the injured list for three weeks, will return to the firing line tomorrow night.

The return of Cowley makes it possible for Manager Art Ross to send two players back to the Olympics, Tommy Brennan and Al Palazzari or Al Rittinger.

TWO FINE VICTORIES

The Bruins came through with two fine victories this week. They started with a 3 to 0 win over Les Canadiens and then went out to Chicago and knocked the Blackhawks back into fifth place, after one of the most bitter battles seen in the Windy City this season.

Shortly after Bill Cowley was hospitalized, the Bruins slumped badly, losing seven in a row. They were in second place when "Cowboy" Bill was forced out of action. Then, they hit the skids and before they came to a halt were in the No. 5 slot. A week ago tonight, they began to click again and by taking Rangers, Canadiens and the Blackhawks, they are back in fourth place, a half game behind the Maple Leafs, who have lost six and tied one in their last nine games.

Bill Cowley will team up with his old flankmen, Herbie Cain and "Stoney" Jackson. With 30 goals and 31 assists for a total of 61 points Cain is a serious contender for top scoring honors, while Jackson, who was the Bruins' leading goal getter during the absence of Cowley, has amassed 45 points. With Cowley setting up plays, Cain and Jackson should return to the form they displayed during the first half of the campaign and the Bruins will, for the first time in a month, show a worth-while offensive punch.

Since their last trip here, the Red Wings have taken a home and home series from Rangers and have beaten the Bruins and Toronto but they were taken over the jumps by the Blackhawks and also the Maple Leafs. They are in second place two games up on Toronto.

Dedham Boys Score In Class B Shotput

By MIKE GILLOOLY

BOSTON GARDEN, Feb. 12—A small but surprisingly enthusiastic crowd was quite shocked here this afternoon as dark-horse Dedham High School jumped to a commanding 10-point lead in Class B competition in the opening event of the 27th annual State interscholastic track and field meet.

In Class A, a pair of Newton boys, Bob Morrell and Art Haywood, sent the favorites off to a flying start in the 12-pound shotput by taking first and third place honors.

Bob Ray's tremendous 45 foot ½ inch heave in the Class B shotput proved tops as Dedham established itself as the first scoring school of the afternoon.

Gil Silvestre, Cambridge Latin, tossed a second-place mark of 41 feet 5½ inches, topping Harley Reagh, Weymouth, and Fran Hancock, Concord.

Ted Cerri duplicated Ray's winning efforts when he leaped 9 feet 4⅝ inches in the standing broad jump to win easily over Art Scalise, and Bill Braithwaite, Cambridge Latin, and Dick Eldredge, Melrose.

Tigers, Macks Lead In Servicemen

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Philadelphia and Detroit share the leadership in the American League's contribution of baseball players to the armed forces.

Of the 196 players in service, 33 are former members of the Athletics and equal number once were on the Tigers' roster, Earl Hilligan of the American League disclosed today. Chicago is third with 26, followed by Washington, 25; Cleveland, 23; St. Louis 20, and Boston and New York, each 18.

Benswanger, Rickey Pick Cards to Win

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12 (AP)—Selective Service is making big inroads into the rosters of all National League Baseball teams, but, in the words of President William E. Benswanger of the Pittsburgh Pirates, it hasn't injured the national sport in any respect.

"If anything, it has helped it," he said today, in reviewing major league baseball in general since Pearl Harbor.

"We've all lost some good players, some teams more than others, but the sport, if anything, is more popular than ever, the quality still is high and, most important of all, competition is more keen because of the 'equalizing' effect the draft.

"Two years ago we were afraid the game wouldn't be up to the standards the fans expect. But it was. And last spring we worried but had one of our best seasons.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT

"This year we're looking forward to an outstanding year. I mean the league in general—not just the Pirates."

Benswanger explained that where each team was losing, on the average, its share of players, the top teams of the league were being hardest hit. He explained it this way:

"Now take last year, as an example. St. Louis won the pennant and Brooklyn was second. Philadelphia and New York were at the bottom. Every time St. Louis tosses a player to the draft isn't it logical to presume that the first line man they lose will be harder to replace than a first-line Philadelphia or New York player?"

Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, here to address a banquet of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the American Institute of Banking, echoed Benswanger's statement, saying:

"You can't pick 'em today, and we won't know until well along in the season just what teams will be in there fighting for the pennant. St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati, in that order, look best now. But we don't know how they'll look by July 4—or when the training season opens, for that matter."

BEST PLAYERS GONE

"I can't see where the quality of the game has dropped perceptibly, either," Benswanger said. "We have lost some first rate players. We have called back some veterans that have been playing Class AA baseball for a year or more.

"But if the draft is putting the clubs on a more even basis, leaving none of them top-heavy with stars, it actually is helping the game and not hindering it."

Then he added, echoing Rickey's opinion:

"Right now it looks like St. Louis again, with Chicago and Cincinnati in that order. But the proof comes on the field, not on paper."

Baseball Seeking No Deferments—Landis

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Club owners in professional baseball have not and will not make any request for preferential draft treatment of their players for the duration, says Commr. K. M. Landis.

The commissioner expressed his views on the subject last night in a statement following an exchange of published letters between Stephen Early, President Roosevelt's secretary, and J. G. T. Spink of St. Louis, publisher of the Sporting News. Spink had written the President asking an expression on baseball's future during the war.

CHIDES PUBLISHER

"Mr. Spink is not a member of the baseball organization and does not speak for anybody but himself," Landis said in his statement. "Nobody authorized to speak for professional baseball has requested preferential treatment of any kind for any player. Most emphatically no such request will be made while we are engaged in this war."

The commissioner also disclosed that last Dec. 23 he had written a letter to Maj.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, in which he expressed baseball's attitude in wartime.

In his letter to Gen. Hershey, Landis said that "reports drift in to me that there is under way some sort of scheme for exemption, or deferment, or other preferential treatment of professional baseball players under the selective service law.

"I have repeatedly stated on behalf of everybody connected with professional baseball that we ask no preferential treatment, that we would be disgraced if we got it and that we desire that all laws and regulations having to do with this war shall operate upon our personnel precisely as upon the other 130,000,000 of our population."

Red Sox Rookie In Hoop Tilt

Bostonians not only will see a crackerjack basketball game when the Brooklyn Eagles make the only local appearance against the strong 303d Quartermasters at Mechanics Building tomorrow afternoon but they will be getting a sneak preview of the new Red Sox rookie Grif Davis when he takes the floor for the Eagles.

Teaming up with Grif on the Eagles will be Mickey Witek and Sid Gordon, outstanding basketballers from the New York Giants.

The Quartermasters, who claim the state's basketball title, have been considerably strengthened by the addition of Young and Crozier and figure to give a warm reception to the invaders.

Mission High will open the twin bill by clashing with St. Charles of Waltham, last year's champions in a battle for a playoff berth in the Catholic League championship fight.

Ohio State Coach Reclassified 1-A

MASSILLON, O., Feb. 12 (AP)—Coach Paul Brown of Ohio State University has been reclassified 1A, his draft board reported today.

The 36-year-old gridiron mentor, whose 1942 Buckeye eleven was adjudged the nation's top football team, is married and has three children.

West Coast Champion On Mat Card Here

Sandor Szabo, former West Coast champion, will be shooting for his second local victory when he takes on Jack Reeder, Toronto, in the semi-final under the Jack Clayburne-George Linehan feature of the weekly wrestling show at the Arena next Wednesday night.

Two other matches will complete another stellar program. In the weekly special, Leo Numa will stack up against Ed "Strangler" White, former University of Alabama football star, while in the opening match, Rebel Bob Russell will square off against Frank Judson, ex-Harvard mat instructor.

Leonard Wins Over Demers

Francis Leonard, 130, of Taunton, turned in the greatest bout in his young pro career by outpointing Pat Demers, 132, of Brockton in the featured ten-rounder of a Goodwin all-star fistic festival before a surprising good gathering of 2500 who braved the worst storm of the year to see the action at Mechanics Building last night.

Leonard completely outboxed Demers through the first six rounds and then seemed to tire as he dropped the next two frames. Franny, however, bounced back to take the ninth by the widest margin of the night ending any possible doubt as to the outcome.

But for this windup scrap, Bill Tordiglione, 149, of the North End, would have stolen the show as a result of his hectic tussle with Dave Andrews, 146, of Lowell.

Honors went to Tordiglione at the end of the slam-bang rounds, Andrews waging a game but losing battle after being floored for the count of nine in the second round from a flurry of punches to the body and head.

In the first of the ten-rounders Tommy Murray, 130, of New York, again won a split decision over Sammy Garcia, 125, of Quincy.

Willie Shanks, 160, of Montreal, outscored Johnny Jones, 163, of Revere, all the way to win the duke in a hard fought ten-rounder.

Ralph Lasbury, Race Horse Owner, Dead

HARTFORD, Ct., Feb. 12 (AP)—Ralph C. Lasbury, Sr., South Windsor tobacco grower and packer, and owner of numerous race horses, died yesterday at the Hartford Hospital. He was 69.

Numbered among Lasbury's friends were Edward (Pop) Geer, Tommy Murphy, Walter Cox, Long McDonald, William Andrews, Richard McMahon and Ben White.
